Without titlepage. Register A2-s, B3, C4, 1. 2-55. 7. The numeration of the folios commences on sig. 1. 2, and continues to 428, the last leaf. In this copy the dates, etc., in the margin are written in red ink. This copy wants the five blank leaves which are found in some copies of the work.

— Another copy. C. 10. b. 7.

Imperfect; wanting four leaves of the table of contents, and a leaf next to fol. CCCCxiii. The last leaf, fol. CCCCxxviii., has been supplied in MS., but without the colophon. In this copy the dates, etc., in the margin are written in red ink.

— Another copy. MS. NOTES. C. 21. d.

Imperfect; wanting 71 leaves, viz. 66 leaves at the commencement, foll. lv., CCCxxiiij., CCCCxxiiij., and two leaves at the end. The remainder consists of 374 leaves. The dates in the margin of this copy also are in red ink MS.

— [Polycronycon] (made and compyled by Ranulph monke of Chestre,...in Latyn, and...translated into Englysshe by [I.] Trevisa.) [Edited by Wynkyn de Worde.] B. 7. Enprynted at Westmestre by Wynkyn Theworde, 1495. fol. C. 11. b. 2.

Imperfect; wanting the titlepage, fol. CCCxl., and the last leaf, which have been supplied in fac-simile MS. by Mr. Whitaker. Sig. aa ii.-hh v., containing the "Prohemium" and table, are not included in the numeration of the fol., which commences at the end of the table and extends to fol. CCCxvi. On the recto of the last leaf occurs Caxton's large device. Printed in double columns, 41 lines to a full column. In the "Prohemium," W. de Worde has substituted his own name for that of Caxton as the modernizer and continuator of the work, which is said to be brought down to the year 1485. This, however, is not the case; with the exception of the above alteration of names, and its having a more copious and differently arranged index, this is a reprint of Caxton's edition of 1482.

— Another edition. B. 7. FEW MS. NOTES. Peter Treveris, Southwerke, 1527. fol. C. 15. b. 3.

A reprint of Wynkyn de Worde's edition of 1495, having the same number of folios, the same signatures, etc., with the addition of several engravings on wood.

From a series of MS. notes on the titlepage and following leaf, it appears that this volume originally belonged to the Princess Palatine Elizabeth, daughter of James I., and was left behind her at Prague on her flight from that city, November, 1620, when it fell into the hands of a Spaniard named Verdugo. At the recapture of Prague by the Swedes, 1648, it was recovered by a German of the name of Klec, who restored it to John Philip Frederick, son of the princess.

The title has beneath it a woodcut representing the combat between St. George and the Dragon, and on the verso a table of feast-days. Then follow the calendar and preliminary matter, which with the titlepage occupy the first 12 leaves. The missal itself then commences on sig. a i., which is enclosed in an ornamental border with a woodcut of the elevation, the Host being represented by the form of a child. On the verso of l iii. is a woodcut representing the Crucifixion, and on the recto of l iiii. another representing the first Person of the Trinity, each surrounded by an ornamental border and occupying the entire page. On the recto of sig. m is a woodcut representing the Resurrection of our Lord, and on the recto of sig. H is another in four compartments, representing respectively Apostles, Martyrs, Doctors and Confessors, and Virgins. The entire work, with the exception of the title, calendar, accentuarium, and colophon, is printed in double columns; the device of the printer being on the verso of the last leaf. The running title, rubrics, and initials are printed in red ink. The woodcut and border on sig. a i. and the woodcut on l iiii. are from the same blocks as those in the first edition of the Salisbury Missal printed at Rouen in 1492.

C. 35. l. 3, 4.

Vol. 1, or the "Pars Hyemalis," is in five pts., of which the following is the collation. Pt. 1, foll. 1–248, sig. a–hh; pt. 2, foll. 1–6, sig. +; pt. 3, foll. 1–192, sig. a–r; pt. 4, foll. 1–50, sig. A–F; pt. 5, foll. 1–78, sig. A–K. Vol. 2, or the "Pars Estivalis," is also in 5 pts. Pt. 1, foll. 1–71, sig. a–i; pt. 2, foll. 1–6, sig. +; pt. 3, foll. 1–192, sig. a–r; pt. 4, foll. 1–50, sig. A–F; pt. 5, foll. 1–180, sig. A–BB. On the titlepage of each volume there is a large woodcut, with a border, which is repeated on the verso of the last leaf in each vol. At the foot of this woodcut on the last leaf of vol. 2, there are the words: "Voualis habetur Londonii a Francisco byreckman." Vol. 1 of this copy is ON VELLUM, vol. 2 is ON PAPER. Vol. 1 is without pt. 2, which contains the Kalendar; pt. 3—the Psalter; and pt. 4—the "Commune Sauctorum." These, however, are in substance the same as the Kalendar, Psalter, and "Commune Sanctorum" which appear in vol. 2. The first pt. of vol. 1 is imperfect; wanting foll. 144, 145, 196, 197, 208, 209, and 268. Vol. 2 appears to want a leaf after fol. 71 of pt. 1—probably only a blank leaf, or one containing a woodcut without text.

Without pagination; 20 lines to the full page. These fragments consist of four leaves, of which the second and third are mutilated. The third and fourth are printed on one side only, and form one sheet, although separated in the complete book by about 73 leaves, of which the first fragment is one; they are probably proof or cancel sheets. The third fragment follows immediately after the second. They were found among a number of waste leaves bound up in the covers of a copy of Caxton's Boethius, formerly belonging to the Grammar School of St. Alban's.

C. 35. e. 5.

Imperfect; wanting 79 leaves. Commencing with the calendar, printed in black and red, each month occupying a page. The first and last leaves are wanting. The page on which the month of May occurs has the sig. ii in red. Sig. a and b, each in eights, all wanting; sig. c in eight, wanting the first, third to sixth, and last; sig. d and e are each in eight; sig. f in eight; sig. g in eight, the first and last three wanting; sig. h in eight; sig. i in eight, wanting the two first and last two; sig. k in eight, wanting the first; sig. l in eight, wanting the last; sig. m and n each in eight; sig. o in eight, wanting the third and sixth; sig. p in eight, wanting the fourth and last two; sig. q, r, s, t, v, each in eight, all wanting. Each signature, as far as herein contained, is marked on the first and third leaf only; g iij. is erroneously marked gi., and l iij., li. There is an engraved border round each page, except the calendar, printed from four blocks, and corresponding with the borders in the volume of PRAYERS (the fifteen O's, etc.) printed by Caxton and bearing his name; there are also small wood engravings indented in the letter-press, and a larger one occupies, with the border and one line of letter-press, "Hic incipiunt vigilie mortuorum," the whole of the verso of the sixth leaf of sig. l. It is the same as that given at p. 102, vol. 2 of Dibdin's edition of Ames' "Typographical Antiquities." The type is the same as that used for the rubrics of the edition of the "Liber Festivalis," without date, at the end of which occur the words, "Caxton me fieri fecit." There are 22 lines in a page; the initials of paragraphs were left blank, and have been filled in by the rubricator. There is an Ninety-six leaves, with 23 lines to a full page. Register, sig. a-m, in eights. The pages are surrounded with arabesque borders representing flowers, birds, etc. In this copy the illustrations are coloured and the initials gilt. It was presented by Arthur, Prince of Wales, son of Henry VII., King of England, to Thomas Poyntz, as appears from the following inscription on the last leaf, verso, below the letter-press: "Iste liber constat Thome poyntz Armigero pro corpore Ill^{mi} regis Anglie henrici vij Ex Dono Dñi Arthuri Sere^{mi} principis Wallie: Ducis Cornubie: Comitis chestrie et cetera;" and below this is the Prince's autograph, "Arthure le prince." The Calendar contains obituaries of several members of the Poyntz family. At the bottom of the first leaf appears the autograph "C. Somer Set," probably that of Sir Charles Somerset, afterwards Earl of Worcester.

Without pagination. Next after the titlepage is the calendar on six leaves, commencing sig. Sz ii.; after which is a leaf containing the "Benedictio Salis et aque," etc. The missal itself then commences, on sig. a i., which is enclosed in an ornamental border, with a woodcut representing the elevation of the Host. Preceding sig. m i. is an illuminated woodcut, representing the first Person in the Trinity, etc. Sig. n i. is enclosed within an ornamental border, and the signatures run regularly on in eights as far as z, after which is another sig., 7, also in eights. The signatures that follow are ã-ð, in eights, and ẽ, F, and G, in sixes, sig. ã i. being within an ornamental border. The initial letters are in red or black ink, and in MS., two or three of them being illuminated. The musical notation is also in MS. The entire work, with the exception of the calendar, is printed in double columns. On the recto of the last leaf, at the top of the second column, is the colophon, and on the verso the device of the printer.
